

THE PREFINITE PAPER

#15 INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY | 26 FEBRUARY 2021

Hello and welcome to the latest edition of The Prefinite Paper!

Throughout my career, I have been blessed to have the chance to work with strong and intelligent ladies from various backgrounds and industries. Surely our collective experiences and shared knowledge is what helps us advance in our careers respectively. This year, in anticipation of International Women's Day, we'd like to highlight some of the personalities, business, and respected associations that we think have helped mold a better place for women in the workforce. It is imperative that we keep supporting our fellow sisters, especially in such times.

On top of that, don't miss out on our upcoming giveaway! Tune into our Instagram page for more details.

Stay safe and healthy,

DINING

CLAUDIA URBANEJA

of Sudestada Jakarta

Claudia Urbaneja is the genius behind Sudestada Jakarta's dessert creation. The Argentinian-Spanish pastry chef started her career as she studied culinary art professionally at Instituto Argentino de Gastronomía, and then worked at the Michelin-starred Restaurante Tragabuches. Her passion for crafting dessert came to her when she was a young girl making homemade alfajores – a traditional Argentine dessert – and selling them to her neighbors. Cooking came naturally to her, so then her father encouraged her to pursue it professionally.

Today, she still creates wonderful desserts that introduces Jakarta diners to the bold and festive flavors of Argentine. Chef Claudia shared with us that in her craftsmanship, she is inspired by her family: "Whenever I cook, I always think that I am cooking for my family. Therefore, there is always a sense of respect for the ingredients and passion for the creative process

WELLNESS

WOMEN-LED BUSINESS

MOOD Jakarta

Mood - Wellness Studio and Kitchen at Bangka offers various yoga classes at their studio, and wholesome, refreshing meals from their kitchen. First opened its doors in 2019, Mood - Wellness Studio and Kitchen has since become a space where patrons are invited to nourish themselves holistically.

Co-founders Audria Maharani (yoga manager and chef), Janice Anya (branding mastermind), and Wenny Kusno (bar operations manager), shared that the most rewarding moment in growing their business must be the excitement of witnessing the growth of MOOD HARD CLUB. The three friends attributed their growth to the community that has been a part of Mood's journey.

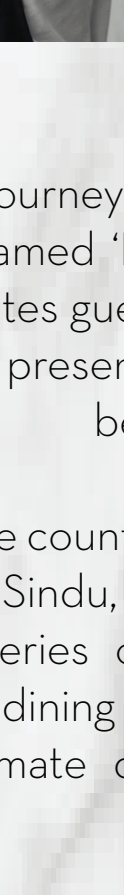

Mood's strength lies in their genuine efforts in growing their business. Looking into the future, Mood plans to create a better, more conscious and judgement-free society that is built by real people, with real struggles and real achievement. In the near future, Mood is planning for fresh collaborations as well as their very first wellness retreat. How exciting!
